

Mini Projects

Would you like to ask a professional in the job/sector you are interested in, your most important careers questions?

A mini project involves the Your Rheum team helping you to identify a professional who works in the role/industry you are interested in and arranging the opportunity to ask your career questions

Questions can be asked in the format of a paper questionnaire or virtual interview. Virtual interviews will be conducted with yourself, the professional and either a member of the Your Rheum team or BANNAR group (to create a safe online space)

Email Laura to take part or ask a question your.rheum@manchester.ac.uk

What do I have to do?

- You will be expected to generate your own questions (up to 10 is a rough guide) We can help provide examples if you get stuck
- You will collect the information and advice you receive and put into a one page summary report for use by other young people. The report could be in the format of a blog or Q&A document
- Some professionals may be willing to answer the questions in a short video and share this with you
- You will be asked to complete a short online survey to provide feedback on your mini project experience

FAQs

- The reports and/or videos gathered from mini projects will be added to the Your Rheum website to create a careers library of resources for other young people to access
- The information collected through mini projects may be used in the future for the purposes of Your Rheum publications e.g. conference abstract/presentation, papers etc
- Mini projects are voluntary, you don't have to take part. £20 vouchers will be provided to say thank you for your time and a certificate for completion
- Depending on the demand for mini projects, the Your Rheum team will ensure to carry out one project per month
- You can take part in more than one project but it depends on demand and ensuring all young people have at least one opportunity to take part
